

Book blurb

Question 31: The book Advance of the mutant dogs is most likely

- a) a real-life adventure.
- b) crime fiction.
- c) fantasy.
- d) a horror story.

Question 32: Story details in a book blurb are intended to

- a) warn and tantalise.
- b) persuade and arouse curiosity.
- c) mystify and recommend.
- d) educate and excite.

Question 33: Where does the author live?

- a) Razorback Ridge
- b) Rock Peaks Wilderness
- c) near Armidale
- d) North Winds

Question 34: Reviews on the back cover of a book function as

- a) promotional strategies to sell the book.
- b) advertising opportunities for newspapers.
- c) sponsorship for the sale at Burkes Books.
- d) an endorsement for a stand on animal welfare.

Question 35: The story has a mountain setting. What could be the reason for this?

- a) Dingos live in mountains.
- b) The scientist has a pound for dogs in the mountains.
- c) The author's home is in isolated mountains.
- d) Conrad Ashton loves hiking in mountain wildernesses.

Question 36: The book will most likely appeal to

- a) people who care for dogs and are against experiments on animals.
- b) bushwalkers and people who are concerned for native wildlife.
- c) teenage readers who enjoy macabre thrillers.
- d) young adults who favour police investigation novels.