

Book blurb

A CONRAD ASHTON ADVENTURE

Suspense and mystery

advance of the mutant dogs

Is it madness or have the dogs on Razorback Ridge developed a gut-tearing ability to control their master? It's an eerie mystery for Conrad Ashton, whose casual summer hike through the Rock Peaks Wilderness should have been a recovery exercise after a traumatic football season. Instead he becomes involved in a nightmare as he discovers a scientist, Dr Lex Chaney, descending into madness while he experiments with the intelligence of dingos. There is something terrifying about the behaviour of the dingos Chaney has in his secret, isolated pound.

David Alan has written several chilling young adult novels and has for long been involved with children's literature. He lives in the lonely mountains just outside Armidale.

"A superb, mind-numbing thriller"
Peter Wallace—Daily Advocate

"A real puzzler with enough shocks to keep you awake."
New England Messenger

North Wind Books
Fiction

Burkes Books

$9.90

Books

~~$12.50~~

Terrible

Horrible

Gripping