

TEXT1

Question 1: The mood (or atmosphere) the writer creates could best be described as

- a) ominous and pessimistic.
- b) foreboding and puzzling.
- c) calculating and inevitable.
- d) cruel and depressing.

Question 2: The girl could best be described as

- a) persistent and resourceful.
- b) confused and wary.
- c) apprehensive and reticent.
- d) brooding and devious.

Question 3: A suitable title for the text could be

- a) Red light flashing.
- b) Evening shadows.
- c) Encounter at twilight.
- d) Moment of truth.

Question 4: The guard considered the girl as

- a) a potential threat.
- b) a relative of Dr Foster.
- c) a passenger from a passing train.
- d) a problem without an easy solution.

Question 5: The guard didn't contact his base when the girl appeared because

- a) she only wanted food.
- b) she would leave when it got dark.
- c) he was concerned for her safety.
- d) he would have been embarrassed.

Question 6: For the guard, the girl's unexpected presence at the gate

- a) upset his plans and made him angry.
- b) forced him to make a decision and act upon that decision.
- c) created a dilemma as to how to cope with the situation without losing face.
- d) created a distraction from the loneliness and the routine of guard duties.